

NEWS ADVISORY

July 11, 2006

Attention:

Metro reporters, Assignment Editors,
Photographers, Videographers

Contacts:

Miriam Rodriguez
Dallas Public Library
(214) 670-7809
Richard Hill
Public Information Office
(214) 243-2042

Families invited to International Book Fair this weekend at Dallas Central Library

What: The First Annual International Book Fair, featuring: cultural and artistic performances; presentations by local authors including: Sharon Scott "How to Say No and Keep Your Friends", "Life's not Always Fair: A Child's Guide to Building Character", Roberto Treviño "The church in the barrio"; and International authors such as: Ivar Da Coll (Bogota, Colombia) "Azucar" beautifully illustrated children's book, a biography of Celia Cruz, "Dia de los Muertos"; Vivian Manzour (Mexico, DF) "El Enmascarado de Lata".

Plus: writing workshops, artistic performances, arts and craft activities, children's storytime, puppet shows, and panel discussions with experts about immigration and journalism issues as well as many fun activities for children. All activities and events are free.

Modeled after the great international book fairs of the world, this will be the first international book fair to be held in the North Texas region.

Where: J. Erik Jonsson Central Library, 1515 Young Street

When: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, July 14
10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, July 15
1 to 5 p.m. Sunday, July 16

For more information visit <http://www.dallasinternationalbookfair.com> or call (214) 670-7800.